—Vitality and color are restored to weak and gray hair, by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. Through its cleansing and healing qualities, it prevents the accumulation of dandruff and cures all scalp diseases.

—No woman can be contented and happy if her skin is covered with pimples and blotches. These disfiguring eruptions are easily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine is perfectly safe to take, and is a thoroughly reliable blood purifier.

—The morn has its time for breaking.

The sun has its time to set, But the weekly shipments for Olcovich Bros.

Show no signs of abating yet. The last load of freight consisted of Coffee, Tea, Mackerel, Raisins, Boots, Shoes, Tobacco, Brandy, and a lot of staple and fancy Dry Goods. Every line is well assorted and all goods fresh and new at Olcovich Bros.

—After a long delay, the election officers in Virginia manage to figure up 1,500 majority for the Democratic Electors. If the Republican vote had been free, there would have been a very different result. As it is, the victory is a poor and shivered one for the Democrats, and will go down into history with the grave suspicion attaching that it is not free from fraud. Mahone and Wise contend that the State is Republican and that but for manipulation of the with-held returns it would be so recorded; and there are strong reasons for reposing faith in this claim.

The Dog Wins.

Last night's fight between a wild cat and a bull dog drew a large crowd at the Old Theater.

The entertainment opened with a few boxing bouts between Prof. Kincaid and Matthias Brannan; after which in response to loud calls from the intelligent and critical audience, the dog was turned loose on the wild cat.

The cat was fastened to the floor by a long rope and handicapped by having his fore claws cut off.

When the dog got him by the throat the cat plowed a few furrows down his belly with his hind claws and the dog thought he had a red hot charter oak stove under consideration.

He got a tresh hold however and after a few more lively passages the cat quietly laid down and died.

For Speaker.

Trenmor Coffin is mentioned as a likely candidate for Speaker of the Assembly. Mr. Coffin is well versed in Parliamentary rules, and it is time Ormsby county had a Speaker of the House, a distinction it has not enjoyed for many years.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17, 1888.

President-elect Harrison is expected here on a short visit sometime during next month. He has some private business to attend to in Washington, and while here he will probably meet the Republican leaders in Congress and get their views on the making up of the cabinet and other important questions. All the political signs now point to the most harmonious and successful Administration for years.

People here, irrespective of party, sympathize with Mrs. Cleveland, now that the news has got out that within two months after inauguration day a stranger is expected in the Cleveland family. The ladies particularly regret that Washington is not to have a White House baby to rave over.

Washington always has excitement of some kind. Just as the election feeling was quieting down a little, came the announcement early this week of a Treasury robbery. Rumor placed the amount away up in the millions at first, but upon investigation it was found that only $1500 was stolen, and the Express company will have that to pay. The money was stolen somewhere between the U. S. Mint at New Orleans and the Treasury Department in this city. The Government seals on two boxes were broken, $1000 taken from one and $500 from the other in silver dollars, and lead substituted therefor. Detectives are trying to locate the theft.

Lord Sackville expects to leave Washington next week, and the society people are taking advantage of their last opportunity for a while of entertaining a real genuine English lord, by showering social attentions upon him and his daughters.

It is amusing to see the various slates which people with nothing better to do are making up for Gen. Harrison's cabinet. The only thing tangible that I have yet been able to discover in this connection is that great pressure is likely to be brought to bear upon Senator Sherman to take the Treasury portfolio. All the slates made up with his name included assign him to the State Department, but I am assured by a gentleman high in the party councils that if Sherman goes into the Cabinet at all—such a course will be against his inclination—it will be in his old position, Secretary of the Treasury. Senator Sherman is justly regarded as one of the greatest financiers that this country has produced, and Gen. Harrison may be considered fortunate if he can secure him for the head of the Treasury.

Senator Quay, who this week moved the headquarters of the National Committee from New York to this city, is the lion of the hour. He reviewed the enthusiastic procession of nearly 10,000 local Republicans Wednesday night, and the cheers they gave him as they passed the reviewing stand would have made any man in this country proud. Every Republican in the United States should feel under personal obligations to Senator Quay for the great victory he has won.

Indications are rapidly multiplying to prove that the Democrats propose making a desperate attempt to steal the House of Representatives from the Republicans, who have honestly elected a majority of the members. The method adopted for this attempted steal is in every way worthy of, and in keeping with the history of the Democratic party. For some days after election they conceded the House to the Republicans by from 2 to 20 majority. That threw the Republicans entirely off their guard. The Democrats then began to claim every close district in the States where they could count on the control of the election machinery and the courts. And they are now boldly claiming 2 majority in the House. In the meantime the Republican managers have been hard at work trying to prevent this unblushing fraud, and Senator Quay assures your correspondent that the Republicans will certainly organize the next House, and that their majority will be materially increased as soon as the contest of the stolen seats can have their cases heard by the House.

JACK THE RIPPER.

Another Letter Received From That Mysterious Person.

New York, November 22.—The World's cable says:

The really interesting incident of the day is another letter from "Jack the Ripper," dated Portsmouth. Here it is:

Dear Boss: It is no good for you to look for me in London, because I am not there. Don't trouble yourself about me till I return, which will not be very long. I like the work to well too love it long. Oh, that was such a jolly job—the last one. I had plenty of time to do it properly. Ha! ha! The next lot I mean to do with a vengeance. To cut off their head and arms. You think it is a man with a black mustache. Ha! ha! ha! When I have done another you can catch me. So good-by, Dear Boss, till I return.

Yours,

JACK THE RIPPER.

The letter is in the same handwriting as the one received just before Mary Kelly was murdered.

Why Cleveland Failed.

LONDON, November 22.—Henry George arrived here on Monday and in a lengthy interview with a Herald correspondent gave his views as to the causes leading to the defeat of Cleveland at the election. He said that the President's vetoes of pension bills were one of the causes, and that another was his civil service reform policy, through which, Mr. George said, the President has lost the support of the real workers of the party.

Asked whether the Sackville letter had any effect in the result, Mr. George replied in the negative. Speaking of British politics, Mr. George said the policy of the Government's bill in buying out the holding of Irish landlords, was the strongest possible bulwark for landlordism, and said that before many years the two great parties in England would be landlord and anti-landlord.

Death of a Western Journalist.

Helena, Montana, Nov. 22.—J. S. Dickerson died here this morning of pneumonia. He was a native of Illinois, about 41 years old. He studied law in the office of President-elect Harrison, was a noted stenographer, and had held editorial positions on Indianapolis, St. Paul and Montana papers, as well as being for some time St. Paul agent of the Associated Press.

Here is a Local Sensation.

New York, Nov. 22.—The keeper of a so-called "furnished-rooms" house, Alice McCarthy by name, committed suicide this afternoon. She bore the name of David McCarthy, with whom she lived. He is not her husband. Her husband's name is Nelson. She was born in Virginia City, Nevada, and has a child in the West. She was 32 years old.
